About Zweihander

Hello, Dear Reader!

Before we embark on a journey into the nature of the nerdiest society at USYD, you should first know what this mysterious booklet you are reading is. The Zweihander is a German word meaning “two-hander” and is predominantly used to describe a massive great sword, which has made many appearances in pop culture (like the Dark Souls games). This book isn’t actually a sword, it’s just a fun fact.

This Zweihander is Sutekh’s official magazine, to showcase all of the wonderful things this society has to offer, allowing you to jump right into our events. In addition to this, the Zweihander acts as a medium to show off our amazing community through their personal submissions!

What is a Sutekh?

A good way to explain who we are at Sutekh is to explain how the name Sutekh came to be.

Contrary to popular belief, the name Sutekh is not an acronym, even though it has the requisite ‘SU’ at the front of it. Sutekh is actually the name of a fictional Egyptian god from the classic British science fiction TV show, Doctor Who. Back when we first started, in the 70’s, USYD societies had to start with ‘SU’. Our founders, who were originally just starting a Doctor Who fan club, decided to be creative and cleverly subvert the ‘SU’ rule by naming the society after the fascinating Doctor Who villain since the name began with the letters ‘SU’. Decades later we still use it because we like the name.

Did you find that explanation of our society’s name long-winded and convoluted? That’s what our society stands for!

Sutekh is one of the broadest reaching societies in USYD that represents all aspects of popular and nerd culture. At our events, you will see people crowded around casual card games, discussing the latest Marvel movie, playing board games with more pieces than you thought was possible, getting a little too passionate about Mario Kart, and delving deep into the depths of ancient dungeons in search of glory.

Outside events, it’s not uncommon to see heated debates lasting many hours on our Discord server. Have you ever wondered how comfortable a pile of gold would be for a dragon to sleep on?

So, what is a Sutekh? A bunch of nerds, geeks and normies having a great time!

A Wild Exec Team Appeared!!

Presidential Address

Honestly I'm just glad we're finally back. It took about two years of bouncing back and forth, are we online? Can we do stuff in person? What can we get away with? But we are finally back.

But we aren't JUST back. We are back with a VENGEANCE! We spent the last few years building up our strength, our reserves, our plans, and our need to just leave the damn house. WE ARE BACK AND BETTER THAN EVER! We have a massive team of inexhaustible exhausted execs that have been working hard to make this year the best year, better than any year before. If you joined this year then you're in luck. If you joined previously then this will be worth the wait and every struggle through Zoom calls and online classes.

We are back with a massive ZWEIHANDER. We are back with the Sci-fi and Fantasy section of the Library of Alexandria. We are back with a pile of board games taller than the Pyramids on Mars. We are back with both Friday Pizza and Games, and our Wednesday event. We are back with a new and exciting event EACH AND EVERY WEEK. We are back with SUTEKH CAMP 2022. We are back with the same acronym lost to time.

! WE ARE BACK BABY !

So welcome newcomers and returning members. Welcome to a community where no matter your interest, there will be a group just as passionate as you. I can't wait to meet all of you and I can't wait for you to meet all of us, starting with me I guess... (none of us got to pick our titles)

Our Glorious President

So hi! I'm the president, not entirely sure how that happened but we're here now. I joined in my first year at uni and have stuck around ever since, walking into my first Friday event changed me forever I think.

I was never all that into board games and was a fledgling nerd at best but as soon as I was sat down at a table and thrown in the deep end learning how to play Root, I was hooked.

From there it was just a short hop, skip and a jump into playing 8 hour games of Twilight Imperium 4 and Terraforming Mars. Three years later I'm in my 4th year of Mechatronic Engineering and Sutekh is still one of the best parts of uni for me.

I've met so many people that have made Sutekh such an amazing space for me, and I want to help make Sutekh amazing for you. See you around!

The Librarian of Mt Doom

Welcome to a new year of geekery! I'll be your reclusive librarian (once again, this title is mine for eternity, muahahaha!).

I'm currently studying my Masters of Architecture, so I can usually be found in the library screaming at printers or in the FabLab spending all my money on models.

I'm always happy to talk about books, tv shows and movies, craft projects, DnD, Lancer, MtG, board games and anything else that sounds fun!

If you are a fellow book-lover, you'll be interested to know that Sutekh has a library which is now open for loans! Check out the library website for the membership sign-up and to check out our digital catalogue of novels, comics, movies and RPG books.

This year we will be updating the collection, so keep an eye out for new titles and fundraising book sales.

A Rogue El-Event-al

Hello and welcome to Sutekh. I am Charlie (he/him) and will be the Vice President of Events for this year. I'm a third year student doing a Bachelor of Education and Bachelor of Science.

I play a lot of video games, most of which I complete to 100%. The mainline Nintendo games (Mario, Zelda, Pokémon, etc.) are some of my favourites, but I've recently gotten into a lot of JRPGs.

The past couple of years have been very difficult on the event side of things with the typical online games night being the main attraction. However, this year, with covid permitting, things will be different. Over the past break we have come up with a variety of events to accomodate everything that is pop culture. With almost a new event every week we will have something to suit your interests.

Our first event occurs on the 18th with Pop Culture Trivia. Bring a friend or two, or introduce yourself to our wonderful community

The Demon Lord's Secretary

Heya!

I'm Kelvin, a long time Sutekh exec and our Secretary for this year. I'm a big TCG fan and love chatting with new members about their interests.

Recently, I've been getting into the Vanguard TCG and Vocaloid music. I'm studying to teach History and English, so I'm always keen to meet people who have a passion for the arts.

Hoping to make lots of new friends this year, and remember, don't die with a clean sword.

A Treasure Hoarding Dragon

Heya!

This is Kawana (she/her), resident nerd and walking encyclopedia of weirdness.

I am in my third year of a Bachelor of Science/Bachelor of Advanced Studies majoring in pestilence and necromancy (genetics and microbiology) but really I'm just collecting more knowledge to destroy people in trivia.

I am really into video games, board games, reading, music, and I love to make things. I have pretty eclectic interests, so chances are we'll have some common obscure interests we can chat about, so I can't wait to meet you at one of our many events!

The RPG Officer of the Lake

HELLO EVERYBODY!!!!!!

You can call me Kendrick. I'm the RPG Officer of SUTEKH this year. I WAS an angry Bard-Barian with a penchant for percussion, and taste for the sweeter things in life. BUT ENOUGH ABOUT MY CHARACTER.

I'm a 4th year, studying a Bachelor of Pharmacy here at Usyd, and my hobbies tend to jump from thing to thing, one minute I'm busy crafting something with my hands, and the next I'm getting thrown around by someone half my size.

I personally enjoy many of the aspects of RPGs, both the in-character developments and the crunchiness of combat, but at the end of the day, it's the entire experience that seals the deal for me. In terms of how Sutekh operates with RPGs, we have group sign-ups at the start of the semester, gathering both veterans, fresh-faced story tellers, and far-flung travelers. These tend to be individually run by the respected GMs. Additionally peppered throughout this semester, there will be some RPG centered events.

Hope to meet a bunch of you and trade stories.

An Overconfident Publicity Officer

Hello everyone. I'm your friendly not so neighbourhood publicity officer!! As you can tell, I'm full of bad jokes and worse references, so be ready for a year of that!!

I am in my fourth year of uni but in my third year of studying Architecture and Civil Engineering. As always, we do not talk about 2019.

In general, I like all things nerdy including but not limited to D&D, anime, comics, movies, board games of all varieties, and of course books!! As you can probably tell, I'm indecisive with everything and like to indulge myself in the widest variety of culture.

My job at Sutekh? I'll be your go to guy for reminders on upcoming events, meetups and random opinion pieces written by yours truly.

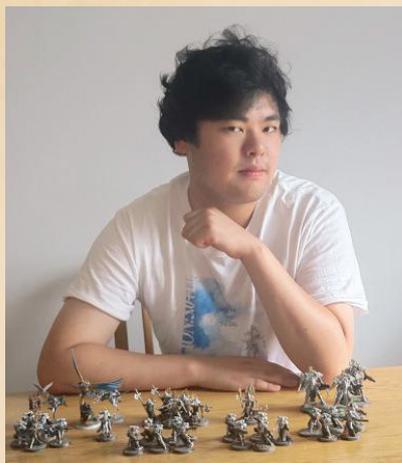

I look forward to seeing all you guys at uni!!

The Ethno-Cultural War-Master

Howdy, I'm Will (he/him), the Ethnocultural Officer here at Sutekh and I may or may not (yeah, I wish) be a Vampire Lord of the Kastelai Dynasty (Or the Blood Dragons for all you Old World (RIP) enjoyers out there).

I'm currently in my Third Year, doing a Bachelor of Economics majoring in Economics and Ancient History. I am somewhat obsessed with the Warhammer hobby, from the gritty historical pastiche of the Old World, the burgeoning mythos of the Mortal Realms to the Grim Darkness of the Far Future, feel free to approach me at one of our events or on social media for a game or to just chat about modeling, painting, lore etc.

Zack, Lina and I form the triumvirate of execs tasked to foster Sutekh as a positive and inclusive space for any and all members, so don't hesitate to reach out to any of us if you feel unsafe or have any problems in general as we will try our best to solve them.

The New Member Guild Master

Hey there!

I'm Ben, your friendly neighbourhood new members officer. I'm in my honours year, majoring in cosmic horror (philosophy and maths), but I'll happily chat with you about anything science if ethics and metaphysics aren't your thing.

New to the society or shy about joining in at an event? Come find me and I'll show you around and get you in on the action. I'm a huge board game fan and D&D lover, so I'll be found wherever those are happening.

I look forward to meeting you at our main Friday board game event, one of our RPG days, or any of the other varied events we've got lined up this year!

The I.T. Doomsday Weapon

Hello there! I'm Jarod, and I'll be your IT Officer this year. This will be my second year in a Bachelor of Software Engineering. I love board games, like video games, and tolerate Star Wars (for the cool spaceships). I've been playing Magic: the Gathering since I was legally old enough and Minecraft since before it was cool.

While we're at it, I would also like to assure the wider Sutekh community that, despite rumours, I do not have any deep-seated psychological issues related to collecting Lego. The rate at which I acquire Lego is normal and healthy, and I am perfectly capable of stopping at any time I wish. This hobby is not having a significant impact on my financial stability or interpersonal relationships.

Please believe me.

The Globe-Trotting Sponsorship Officer

Hello, my name is K (like the letter) and I'm Sutekh's sponsorship director and self-proclaimed adventurer! When I'm not peer pressuring retail outlets to sponsor us, I'm hitting my Switch, Magic: the Gathering cards, or WASD.

I joined Sutekh because I love getting involved in the USyd Community, and I'm currently in 14 other clubs!

I'm also a huge book nerd, so please ask me about the wonders of acid-free paper anytime. Or like, literally anything to do with books. Hope to see you soon, and be sure to stay safe from any asbestos-filled secret passageways!

The LGBTQ+ Wizard/Mad Scientist

Gentlefolk, ferals and domesticated cryptids, you now behold the words of Zack (he/they), avid daydreamer, dragon enthusiast and your LGBTQ+ Officer this year!

I'm in my third year of a Bachelor of Science, majoring in Transmutation (Chemistry/Math), though at any given moment I'm likely thinking of my next D&D character, trying to engineer some terrible wordplay or recalling some piece of arcane trivia.

At Sutekh, we foster an inclusive environment, as a place to celebrate the diverse and wonderful nerdy things we all love. I want to make sure every person feels safe, welcome and included, and I look forward to meeting you.

So if like me, you love trying new things, you should come along to one of our events and play along with our motley crew!

Queen of Queens

Hi there! I'm Lina, the Women's Officer of Sutekh. I have iron deficiency, it's my whole personality now but it also makes me very non-threatening as I can easily be blown over by a very mild gust of wind, so feel free to approach me if you have any questions, concerns or just for a chat!

I'm in my fourth year, majoring in philosophy and international and global studies (but we don't talk about INGS). Fair warning: I will try to debate you on random philosophical topics when I get drunk. The trick is to just agree with me every time.

I'm interested in the pop culture side of Sutekh and I mean like the really mainstream pop culture side (because I'm definitely not a nerd I swear), so if you're also basic af and into all the mainstream music, films, tv, and games please befriend me!

Trenchcoat General Exec 1

Hey there! I usually go by Kade, but others call me Joohoyoo, KJ or Girthy Chungus (and sometimes chungie). Anything works really. I'm one of the general execs this year!

At first, I rolled an artificer (mechatronic engineer) but scrapped it for a multiclassed archaeology and marine science degree at the beginning of my second year. Now starting year 3 of my new degree.

My two main hobbies are HEMA (medieval swordfighting irl) and playing any PC or tabletop RPGs. Recently, I've been suffering from a crippling Final Fantasy XIV addiction. I probably need help. Looking forward to meeting you this year and teaching you how to play Mao!

D&D holds a special place in my heart for being the first hobby I picked up and became obsessed over when I first started university.

Anyways, that's all from me. If you ever want to support me in my quest of removing episode 22 of Star Trek: The Next Generation's Season 2 from the canon, feel free to hit me up!

The Editor who's been here the whole time

Hello everyone, I'm your friendly not so neighbourhood Editor!! Wait have we already met each other?

I am in my fourth year of uni but in my third year of studying Architecture and Civil Engineering. As always, we do not talk about 2019.

In general I like all things nerdy, including but not limited to D&D, anime, comics, movies, board games of all varieties, and of course books!! As you can probably tell, I'm indecisive with everything and like to indulge myself in the widest variety of culture.

My job at Sutekh? I'm the one writing this right now. Other than that, I look okay in sunglasses.

I look forward to seeing all you guys at uni!!

Adventure Awaits!!

We're Going on a Camping Adventure!!

That's right! Sutekh's semi-famous annual camping trip is back and better than ever.

Come along for three days of board games, questionable choices and a whole lot of fun!

When?

The camp will take place between the 18th and 21st of April, which just so happens to fall in midsemester break. It's almost as if we planned it that way. Wait, we did?

How do I secure a spot?

During the semester a form will be released through our Discord, Facebook and directly to your email. From there you will be able to sign up and pay (price to be determined).

Here's a little inside knowledge: you gotta be fast as spots are limited and could sell out quickly. Keep your eye out for further updates as the date approaches.

The Hitchhiker's Guide to our Upcoming Events

Weekly Events

Mondays 4-6

Every Monday, we will be hosting one of our special events. These will be completely unique events for the semester, with a different activity each week. To keep you up to date, all of these events will be announced two weeks before the date.

So keep your timetables clear on Monday!

Wednesdays 4-6: Cards and Cartridges

Wednesday is our Cards and Cartridges day. Here you can come and enjoy a mixture of casual card games like Anomia and Codenames. You can also come for our extensive switch library, where you can enjoy multiplayer games like Overcooked, Mario Kart and Mario Party.

Wednesday is our most casual, relaxing day and is definitely one you should attend if you want to kick back and have a good time.

Fridays 6-10: Pizza and Games

Friday is our infamous Pizza and Games night. Every week, come to the Holme Reading Room for $5 pizza and all the board games you ever dreamed of! Secret Hitler, Betrayal at the House on the Hill, Dixit, Red Dragon Inn and dozens upon dozens of other titles are available to play with friends old and new.

Friday is the main attraction of every week and is a surefire way to make friends and have a good night.

Want To Know More?

Want to know about our special events? Want a nice ordered calendar so you can plan your lives around us? Head on over to pages 24-25 which has everything you need!

The Library of Alexandria

Sutekh's grand library, run by Jess, is one of the largest society run collections of books and manga within USYD!

Whether you're looking for niche fantasy books lost to time, a thrilling sci-fi adventure novel to tide you over or even to satisfy an urge to jump into our extensive manga and comic collection, the Sutekh library will have something for you.

To top it off, your Sutekh membership gives you full access to the library and our collection without any charge!! All you have to do is jump onto our library website:

https://www.librarycat.org/lib/Sutekh_USyd

On the website you can become a library patron. This will allow us to contact you about your book loans and get the book to you at one of our events. Once your request has been approved, we will contact you with your login and you can start browsing our books!

Just search through our collection and choose the book you want to borrow. We will then extract the book from our collection, and you can arrange to pick it up at any Sutekh event.

If you have any further questions about how to access our library, queries about what books we currently have, or issues you're experiencing, feel free to contact our librarian at vp_librarian@sutekh.org.au. You can also ask one of our helpful execs on our Discord or Facebook. In the meantime, happy reading!

Fellow Adventuring Societies

The party doesn't end at Sutekh! Throughout the university, you can find other fun filled societies to satisfy your other interests. We have listed some of Sutekh's friends in this section, but don't be afraid to venture forth into the unknown.

WASABI

USYD Japanese Cultural Society more commonly known as WASABI.

Konnichiwa!

We are WASABI!! - Usyd's Japanese Cultural Society!

Whether you're thinking social events, such as meet and greets and Izakaya, food events such as yakisoba, parfaits and sushi, or cultural events such as kimono-wearing and tea ceremony, we've got you covered.

You don't have to know any Japanese to join so come along to build new friendships, grab some free food and enjoy!

SUANIME

Into anime, manga, cosplay, vtubers or other anime-related subcultures?

Looking for a chill society to make new friends? Come join one of the LARGEST just for fun societies in USyd!

We run events from drawmeets, trivia and drinks nights to cruises and even camps~~ With our huge range of different events there's bound to be an event you'll enjoy!

So come along to SUAnime and enjoy a vibrant university life with like-minded people!

SUSOG

Society of Gamers (SUSOG) does all things gaming, fighting games to FPS to RTS and more, we have you covered!

Doesn't matter if you play casually or competitive, we have events and tournaments to keep everyone happy.

We have also partnered up with Sydney University Minecraft Society to host a server.

Sign up for free and join our discord for daily in-houses at 8PM and tournaments throughout the year as well as LAN parties, meetups and trivia!

SU POKEMON LEAGUE

The SU Pokémon League is a place where Pokémon trainers of all kinds can get to know one another and make friends!

Our events are fueled by the love of Pokémon battling and trading where we range from playing the popular Nintendo Switch games together, strategising Pokémon teams on Pokémon Showdown, or even adventuring through the city for Pokémon Go.

With weekly events both in-person and online, our club is the go-to for Pokéfans of any type!

MIXSOC

Hey all! Mixsoc here! We're the Multiracial Intercultural Experience Society (MIXSOC) at USYD; the only society for mixed race and multicultural students.

Our society aims to bring together students with diverse life experiences and upbringings to create a fun and safe community where different students of mixed ethnic backgrounds can feel they belong.

Our major events include picnics, speed-friending, trivia nights, pub crawls, international food festivals plus more! Along with frequent collaborations with other friendly societies at USYD, we also host regular online events on discord as well as language exchange meetups on campus.

So if you're interested, keep your eyes peeled for future MIXSOC activities and collabs!

PUZZLE SOC

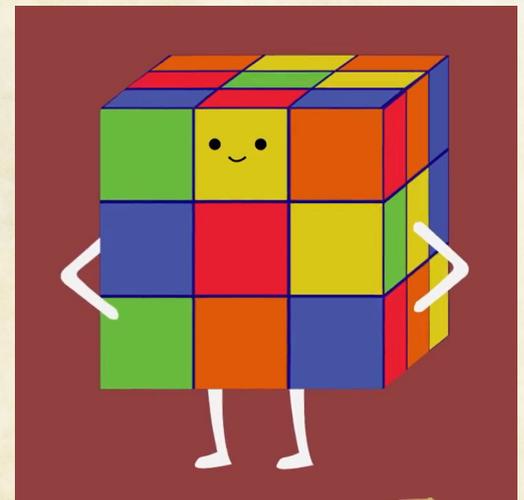

Nice to meet you! We're the USYD puzzle society!

We're a fresh new society that started halfway through 2021 and we love doing puzzles and brain teasers of all sorts!

If you're into logic puzzles like sudokus, escape rooms, crosswords or any other puzzles, this is the society for you!

On top of that, we also run and solve puzzle hunts, which are like treasure hunts but on paper where figuring out what to do is half the fun!

Come check us out! (Note to editor: we didn't spell-check this at all, please help!)

This spellcheck has been left as an exercise for the reader

It's Dangerous to Go Alone

This is the section of Zweihander that showcases the work of you and your fellow Sutekhians. Sutekhites? We love to showcase all creative works in our society, whether its your D&D world, warhammer paintings, long winded rants on tv shows or video games, and everything in between.

Wrong Party Review by Jarod Grining

Wrong Party, stylised somewhat confusingly as Wrong Party, is yet another adorable casual card game by Unstable Games. Each round, a random party theme is revealed, and the aim is to assemble the perfect guest list. The twist? There are four conflicting party themes: family-friendly, costume party, political party, and raid party – i.e., Dungeons and Dragons. In case you hadn't noticed already, the gag here is that 'party' has multiple meanings, and the game conflates them so that you'll be sending a Wine Mom on a quest to save the kingdom while the Wayward Warrior spectates the presidential debate.

The core gameplay is picking the right guests for the party theme. Wrong Party is a drafting game, meaning you invite guests by picking them from hands that are passed around the table. You also uninvite guests, which allows you to strategically stop your opponents from taking them. Generally, you want guests that match the current party's theme, but there are also individual likes and dislikes that need to be accounted for, as well as unique guest abilities.

At the end of the round, each player reveals their guest list one by one, and you score points based on how many theme-appropriate guests you've picked, and how many of their likes match the party, and how many of their dislikes match, and the individual extra points listed on their cards, and then you score bonus points if you have a majority of matching guests, and if you have at least one of every theme, and then you score points from any specific abilities written on your cards...

Are you lost yet? So are most players at this point.

Don't get me wrong. The draft experience in Wrong Party is top-tier. There are plenty of factors to consider when choosing which guest to invite, yet the overarching four-theme mechanic takes a lot of the mental load off, which is especially helpful for new players. The problem is when the mental load gets dumped back onto you five times heavier, only now it's without any actual gameplay. Tallying up scores takes about the same time as the draft, and the only decisions made in this phase are triggered by the occasional special ability – and in those cases, the choice is usually obvious anyway.

I have nothing against detailed scoring systems with lots of maths... in a game like Twilight Imperium or Root, where it's just a small part of an immense, rich ocean of gameplay. Wrong Party is more like a shot glass worth of gameplay, which is nice in its own way, but the scoring phase can sometimes make it feel like you're drinking the shot through a straw, which is frustrating because it not only defeats the point of having a shot, but the straw is much too tall for the glass and keeps falling over and making a mess.

In this analogy, the mess represents players making mistakes in scoring. In some rounds I found I didn't really care if I'd missed a point from a like, because I was sick of staring at the mess of tiny symbols and trying to re-commit to memory which interests were relevant during each round. Eventually, most people just want it over and done with, which isn't a good feeling to have about something that takes up half of the total game time.

On top of that, the likes and dislikes mechanic doesn't actually improve the game with its added complexity. The effect of likes is almost always static once the party theme is revealed, so they're not a dynamic consideration you have to weigh up so much as extra, unnecessary numbers you have to crunch to calculate every card's real value. There's a huge missed opportunity here for a mechanic with more substance and meaning.

That said, Unicorn Games didn't hold back on its trademark silly flavour, and this is the perfect game for it. Every single card in Wrong Party has a splash of often subtle comedy – the Basic Witch holding a pumpkin spice latte, for example. There are even multi-card jokes, such as the political Alien In Disguise and its logical opposite Alien Not In Disguise. With so much observational humour in the art and the various subtle references, this might be the funniest game I currently own.

It's a shame, because there isn't much of an opportunity to notice these things when your mind is constantly on the numbers. Still, it's a solid drafting experience overall, even though the card-picking strategy is executed awkwardly. I'd recommend this game for groups of 3-5 who either don't mind doing a lot of maths on the fly, don't care about playing optimally, or want their hearts to melt over the Bunny Dressed As A Kitty. I wouldn't blame you. It's worth the cost of the game alone.

Painted Miniatures by Will Ma

These figures are insanely cool with their vibrant colours!

If you're like me (the editor) and have very little knowledge of Warhammer or miniature paintings talk to Will.

These Snipers are a sneak peek into a new set of Warhammer figures that Sutekh just acquired for our events.

If you want to learn how to play, come to our upcoming Introduction to Collectible Gaming event!

Top Five Worst Magic Commanders by Jarod Gaming (not Grining)

Everyone knows the best Magic: the Gathering commanders are Atraxa, Praetor's Voice, Korvold, the Fae-Cursed King, and Toggo, Goblin Weaponsmith, in that order. But who dedicates their time and energy to studying the worst commanders in the game?

I, an unparalleled expert on how to play Magic badly, have scoured all 1,322 possible commanders. After years of searching, I have compiled a list of the five most comically unplayable commanders Wizards have ever dared to print.

5. Isao, Enlightened Bushi

I'll admit it's not the worst creature ever printed, if a little underwhelming. I might pick Isao halfway through a core set draft. The real absurdity of this commander is the implication of a green Samurai theme when there's only one other green Samurai. The second one was released two decades later, is a literal frog, and is also pretty much strictly better as a card. Isao was originally going to be number one on this list, but I'll admit it's technically playable, and by coincidence, a few more green Samurai are being dropped with Kamigawa 2: Neon Boogaloo this weekend. Still not an excuse to ever build this deck, but we're getting there.

4. Gosta Dirk

The actual gameplay behind this dude really doesn't do his art justice. Seven mana for a 4/4 with first strike would make most players nauseated, but to give Gosta his due, he does have another ability. That's right, all of those infuriating Merfolk will have to take the long route thanks to his islandwalk-blocking effect. But hey, maybe your best bud is working on an islandwalk tribal build, and you're a really terrible friend. If that sounds like you, this classic Legends piece sells for a smooth $60 on the market today.

3. Ishi-Ishi, Akki Crackshot

Speaking of your entire deck depending on unlikely plays from opponents, have you ever considered a mono-red build that serves the sole purpose of countering an already niche strategy? If so, Ishi-Ishi has you covered. Finally, you can punish your opponents and their pesky Eye of Nowhere shenanigans with a free Shock to the face. Never mind that this clinically insane goblin dies to Spikefield Hazard.

2. Gallowbraid

Have you ever wanted to do nothing and die? This visual and mechanical abomination from Weatherlight has you covered. Maybe you really need a trampler in black. Maybe this is the only Phyrexian you can afford. Even then, you should probably just proxy something better and hope nobody notices. Not only does Gallowbraid drain your life for no reason, it does so exponentially, so you can be sure that your commander will lose you the game in no time at all.

1. Haakon, Stromgald Scourge

Look, despite what this list might imply, mono-black isn't the worst colour choice for a commander deck (that honour goes to mono-white). That said, the biggest requirement for a good commander is arguably being able to use them. Resurrecting Knights is a sweet ability to have at the helm, and thanks to Eldraine, it's not an impossible tribal theme to pull off in black alone. It is, however, impossible when you literally can't cast your commander, ever. I can envision some way of tricking an opponent into copying a Road of Return under your control and then discarding Haakon to finally get him into play, but that seems a tad improbable.

Where to Find Us?

You want more Sutekh, but you don't know where to find us?

You're in luck! Aside from our presence throughout the university, we also have an online presence where you can chat, play and generally have a great time.

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/SutekhSociety>

Our Facebook, overseen by yours truly, is the first place to get announcements of upcoming events and outings that happen throughout semester. Along with random posts from time to time, it's a good ride.

Discord: discord.io/sutekh

This is our main social platform and our members can usually be found chatting about a whole array of random things. Most likely debating if sleeping on gold is comfortable for dragons

Website: sutekh.org.au

This is the go to place to find all of our information and weekly events. If you have any questions, the answer is probably on our website.

Final Remarks

Hail, weary traveller! I do hope you have enjoyed your time exploring the world of Sutekh and its many opportunities. You have done well to make it to the end!

As you might already know, I'm Ethan, your editor in chief and collector of all the things you see in this magazine. First of all, I want to thank you for spending the time reading through it, as I know a lot of effort from all of our executives went into creating it.

I also want to wish you a great year going forward. Whether you are joining for your first quest or you're a seasoned traveller, we at Sutekh hope that you enjoy your stay and continue to join us on many more adventures.

That's all from me!

I'll be in contact with you soon about this dragon we need slain, so don't be a stranger!
